UW Field House

It's a landmark building in a number of ways. From being listed on the National Register of Historic Places to the record-setting attendances and the momentous wins, the Wisconsin Field House is a memorable place steeped in a rich history.

Since it was built, the Field House has been the site of numerous sporting events including basketball, boxing, track and field, and wrestling. It also hosted UW commencement exercises, speakers, including John F. Kennedy, and a carnival.

The Badgers first competed in the Field House in 1977 when they hosted the Big Ten Tournament. UW didn't return to the building until 1980, playing host to two tournaments. Wisconsin's play in the Field House was sporadic until 1986 when it became the permanent home of the volleyball team. With the construction of the Kohl Center in 1998, the volleyball team took over sole possession of the Field House in the fall. The building is also used as the competition site for the UW wrestling team.

As the sole occupant of the UW Field House, the Wisconsin has made the building one of the finest volleyball facilities in the country. The wood basketball floor was refurbished in 2009, making the volleyball court the center of attention.

The locker room facilities include a ready room for relaxing, studying and watching video, separate from the team's home locker room. A complete renovation of the locker room area, including a photo display of Big Ten championship teams, was completed in the summer of 2003. The ready room was remodeled in 2006 and features a large-screen projection television, leather sofas, pub table and chairs, and wireless internet access.

The renovation of Camp Randall

Stadium also included improvements to the north end of the Field House including updated restrooms as well as a new media room and opponent locker rooms on the lower level.

Other items in the building include the All-America wall on the west side of the building, featuring photos of the Badger greats, and the Big Ten championship and NCAA tournament banners hanging over the playing court.

Fans also enjoy the full-service concessions stands and can shop for UW souvenirs in the Bucky's Locker Room store in the facility.
